when i first heard about the pandemic particularly as a woman with disability i was afraid

0:15

here in the philippines we were in panic and we didn't know what to do

0:21

not being able to see things around and stuff like it created a lot of fear in me i really felt the weight of anxiety and nervousness knowing that it would affect me more than others i was unemployed

0:27

0:34

and didn't have any government support eighty percent of people with disabilities being the rural areas and it's really hard for them to access information we were

0:38

0:44

left out in most of the information sharing around the covert 19 pandemic

0:50

many people with disabilities and income from tourists and our floor stay jobs people with disabilities couldn't access rehabilitation services such as prosthetics and mobility aids

0:57

1:04

many of the vaccination centers are not accessible for people using wheelchairs more than half of the people who have contracted and died from covid 19 have been people with disabilities

1:10

1:21

a better world for all to be meeting the diverse needs of persons with disability

1:25

in all development efforts in the future there should be priority given to the disability sector

1:33

leaving no one behind that is the goal we need to make sure that communication is inclusive

1:41

and information reaches everybody having people with disabilities at the center of all response

1:47

access to public information through filipino sign language for all the deaf filipino here

1:54

vaccination sentence and transport to them need to be accessible include the voices of people with disabilities in recovery effort listen to us we can help shape our world include me

2:00

2:07

in the covet 19 response i have ideas to share the time is now to create a disability inclusive world

2:15

join our community of change workers build back a better world for all, for all, for all
